We're excited to add a new crowdfunding opportunity to our annual Call for Proposals. With your permission, we will include your project in our online Grant Catalogue which we will publicize during our grant review process.

While CBT advisory committees review your application and allocate CBT granting dollars, we will launch the crowdfunding campaign and market the grant catalogue to our donors and the public. The catalogue will be found on our website and will allow donors to make immediate contributions to your project. There are no costs to your organization or the donor, and the CBT will cover 100% of the credit card fees charged for donations.

If you choose to participate in the grant catalogue, we ask that you help raise awareness of this new local crowdfunding opportunity. Once your proposal has been reviewed, we'll send you a short checklist of participation activities that will help make the campaign a success for your organization.

Organization Charitable Status

Charitable Status

The CBT is a federally-registered charity. This status comes with stringent guidelines as to how we can distribute funds to organizations and communities. The Canada Revenue Agency determines the types of organizations – known as “qualified donees” – that can receive funding from a federally-registered charity.

You may check here if you are unsure if you are a registered charity.

Please select the most appropriate option to describe your organization:

Choices

- a First Nation performing a function of a government ("qualified donee")
- a municipality in Canada
- an educational institution
- the government of Canada or British Columbia
- a registered charity

The CBT is not able to provide funding to ineligible groups via a flow-through arrangement. Please contact CBT staff if you have questions about your organization's eligibility.

If you have a project you believe meets the mandate of the CBT and are not an eligible organization, please contact the CBT to discuss your project.
